

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

EXPANDING HORIZONS OF LEGAL PLURALISM

Living constitutions. Diverse knowledges. Shared futures.

CONCEPT NOTE

This conference explores legal pluralism as a living constitutional practice shaped by the interplay of constitutional, legislative, indigenous and religious laws and diverse knowledge systems.

It engages with contemporary challenges in human rights, native laws and customs, lands and natural resource management, environmental justice, and intercultural and intergenerational justice through interdisciplinary dialogue and collaborative learning

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

To identify the issues surrounding legal pluralism with a specific emphasis on its implementation

Explore the jurisprudential basis of native laws and customs within constitutional legal pluralism

Discuss jurisdictional issues and the structural, procedural processes of Native Courts and other adjudication institutions

Address intercultural and intergenerational issues in environmental governance, lands and resource management, and access rights

Build understanding, knowledge and research on indigenous traditional knowledge - its substance and methodology
